Mr. Stegner is much pleased with our city and hopes to make it his home. He is a gentle gentleman and just the kind of material of which good towns are composed. He expects his wife to join him in a few weeks and in the meantime will make his home with Mr. Atkinson.

A Cosmopolitan Jury.

An auditor in the district court room furnishes THE CITIZEN the following makeup of the jury now trying the Washington mine case: 1 German, 1 Dane, 1 Austrian, 1 Englishman, 1 Italian, 1 half German and half native, 1 English speaking American and 5 Spanish speaking Americans. The celebrated case is in the hands of a cosmopolitan jury.

A BAD BLACK EYE.

How the So-Called "Business Men" Have Injured El Paso.

AS IT LOOKS TO OTHERS.

A most astonishing condition of affairs is reported from El Paso, says the San Francisco Call. Already had Texas deceived itself in the eyes of the country by an extraordinary session of the legislature called to enact a law against prize fighting when Corbett and Fitzsimmons were preparing for their meeting. But El Paso, which is just within the borders of Texas, New Mexico being close at hand, appears to have a considerable population quite different from that of the other parts of the state. Through the efforts of the ministers of that city and the delegate from New Mexico, congress has passed and the president signed a bill prohibiting prize fights in the territories, and this puts a stop to the supposed intention of the fighters to meet on New Mexican soil, and because the preachers have done this, some so-called "business men" of El Paso are we informed, are highly indignant and have threatened to withdraw their support from the churches.

This is amazing news from an American city. It means to say that by these people churches are not wanted in El Paso; that the restraining and elevating influence which they exert are deemed injurious to the interests of that community, that instead of churches there "business men" of El Paso prefer prize-fights and all that goes with them, violence, brutality, drunkenness, gambling and ruffianism and outlawry in all possible forms. It means that "business men" of El Paso are indifferent to the fact that they will be regarded as outlaws from American civilization, antagonistic to religion and insolent to congress, and lacking in those distinguishing qualities of patriotism that mark loyal citizens of the United States.

Of course, the self-styled "business men" of El Paso will not readily admit that they are placing themselves in such a position. All that concerns them is the fact that they will not get a large amount of money which they had expected from an influx of spectators assembled to see the fight between two notorious bruisers.

Several carpenters have been at work since last Monday tearing down the old six-sous building, the last of Col.

R. M. Johnson's individual property in San Pedro. This building will be put up at the type queen mine, where Superintendent Christ Wiegand is making preparations for extensive work this summer.

When Mr. Wiegand begins to take out ore from this mine the mining world will know that there are a few gold mines in New Mexico.

of sunshine, and the magazine is a part of them. Those of our readers who know Chas. F. Lummi and there are many, know that what he writes commands not only readers but respect. The regular contributors to the L. S. embrace names of acknowledged ability—Charles Dudley Warner, Mrs. Gen. Custer, Mrs. Fremont, Joquin Miller, and others as well known. It is a high-class magazine for a high-class people.

Mr. Payne is thoroughly trustworthy, and we bespeak for him and the magazine a hearty welcome and substantial encouragement.

SAN PEDRO.

Items of Interest from a Neighboring Camp on the East.

Bob Carley and C. J. Sullivan are doing some assessment work on the Missouri Belle Isle.

Bob Dauthitt, an old timer of San Pedro, has left the camp to take a good job offered him in Texas.

James Carruthers, our obliging post master, has been confined to his bed for several days, but is now on the way to recovery.

The Chinahua gold and copper smelter is still running, which has been shut down on account of the scarcity of water, intends blowing in to-day. The well has been sunk deeper and now has an abundance of water, which will justify the company in blowing in again. The company now expect to make a good run of several days and a fair test will be given to the different ores now waiting on the platform to be treated in the smelter.

The "Hazel" and the "Good Hope" are both being worked regularly, taking out good ore, which steadily improves as depth is gained. These claims are owned by Hellwig, Schlarath & Co., and it will not be long before they commence sending ore to market.

There are also a number of other fine prospects in this camp—the "Santa Rita," the "Big Tree" and several others, that only require a very little development to enable them to become profitable shippers.

The great mistake made in this canyon was that certain men and I am sorry to say they were generally Albuquerque parties sent out prospectors with instructions to locate every mountain they came to; thus thousands of claims were taken up which the parties who held them never had any idea of working, but the land was kept "out of market," and the practical miners, who came in from Colorado and elsewhere, and would have made some good mines here, were kept out of the canyon, and forced to locate somewhere else; and the consequence is that the fellows who tried to hog everything got nothing, and have lost even the money they paid to their prospectors, because the claims they made were all forfeited on the first of January last, for the lack of "assessment work," and can now be taken by anyone.

If it had not been for this hoggishness, there would have been a good paying camp here long ago, but there is a chance now for five men to get hold of good claims, and things are taking a new start, and you may confidently expect to see Peralta canyon come to the front in a very short time as one of the best and richest sections in the great Cochiti country.

Under the caption of "Broad Gauge to Albuquerque" in the Denver News of yesterday morning says:

The master in charge having made his report on the claims of the Atlantic & Pacific first mortgage bondholders, there remains now nothing for Judge Collier's court to do but to issue a decree of foreclosure and an order of sale. This may now be expected in a few days, or a few weeks at most. It has already been foreseen that the Southern Pacific is scheming to obtain possession of the road, and will be an active bidder for it against the Santa Fe. Suppose the Southern Pacific gets it, what is it to do for a connection with its greatly mistaking their intelligence and earnestness and their appreciation of the fact that El Paso has given abundant evidence of the need of churches.

GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROWN.

is a line from the old old verse we used to recite in our schoolboy days. It has a forcible application to these small ailments which we are apt to disregard until they reach a painful stage.

It is in the "Eight attack" of constipation, if it is assumed, will soon pass off, but it is very apt to get worse, and in the meantime is neglected until the ailment becomes chronic, and then, if not entirely eradicated, is a constant annoyance and source of worse consequences, for diseases, recollect, begin one another.

How much wiser to resort to a course of treatment, "Eight attack" of constipation, if it may "heal" vs. malignant, rheumatic and kidney maladies, constipation, biliousness and nervousness are all disorders of rapid growth, and should be "nipped" in the bud by a timely resort to the bitters.

INDIAN TRAILERS OUT.

No trace has yet been found of Col. Fountain and son, of Las Cruces, whose disappearance has caused so much apprehension. The family of Col. Fountain have secured the services of five expert trailers from the Mescalero Apache reservation, and they have taken the trail from where Col. Fountain's buckboard was found. There is every indication of foul play and the people of Isleta county continue to be greatly excited. Mrs. Fountain is said to be in a very critical condition as a result of the shock incident.

PRICE FIGHTING.

The ballyhooing talk of Bat Masterson at El Paso, criticizing the conduct of the United States just as counterfeits are to do, is enough to make a decent man sick at the stomach. He and his fellow sports deliberately undertake to violate the laws of the United States just as counterfeits do, to get rich quick.

It is in the "Eight attack" of constipation, if it may "heal" vs. malignant, rheumatic and kidney maladies, constipation, biliousness and nervousness are all disorders of rapid growth, and should be "nipped" in the bud by a timely resort to the bitters.
